Thermore recycled fibre

MILAN – Italian thermal insulation business, Thermore unveiled its new recycled fibre product Thermore Pro at ISPO Munich for the outdoor apparel market and is made with 50 per cent recycled fibre. In common with other lines in the Thermal range, Thermore Pro doesn't contain PFOA (perfluorooctanoic acid) and PFOS (perfluorooctane sulfonate), non-organic chemical substances whose use in outdoor clothing has recently been exposed by Greenpeace as being harmful for human beings and highly polluting.
