

Thermore sings the praise of new Aria line

13 June 2013

Thermal insulation technology provider Thermore has launched a new product line called Aria.

The company has described the new products as “extremely voluminous and light, ideal for contemporary garments like ultra-light down and packable down jackets”.

Thermore Aria insulation uses certified Oeko-Tex raw materials and the company says independent tests have shown the product to be non-allergenic, highly breathable, non-toxic and free of PFOA and PFOS (perfluorooctanoic acid and sulfonate).